Getting to Bologna

Emilia-Romagna

It is easy and convenient to discover the beauties of the Region Emilia Romagna. Bologna, which is the main city of the Region, lays exactly halfway between Emilia and Romagna. It is the strategic hub of the national motorway and railway network.

The area

By car

A vast motorway network (A1, A13, A14) connects Bologna to the cities of the region. While from 187 BC the Via Emilia – one of the twenty most beautiful roads in the world for “on the road” trips – connects Piacenza to Rimini passing through enchanting cities of art, the food & motor valley.

Furthermore, travel within the region is easy thanks to the extensive public transport network.

By train

In the region, the services are guaranteed by Ferrovie Italiane – Ferrovie Emilia Romagna; while the High Speed train services are guaranteed by AV Italo Treno and Trenitalia for the cities of Reggio Emilia, Bologna and Rimini.

By bus

Bologna is connected with the cities of the region through a dense network of bus routes. Moreover, with the new single ticket “Mi Nuovo Multibus” you can travel around Emilia Romagna in a convenient and cheap way.

Info Point

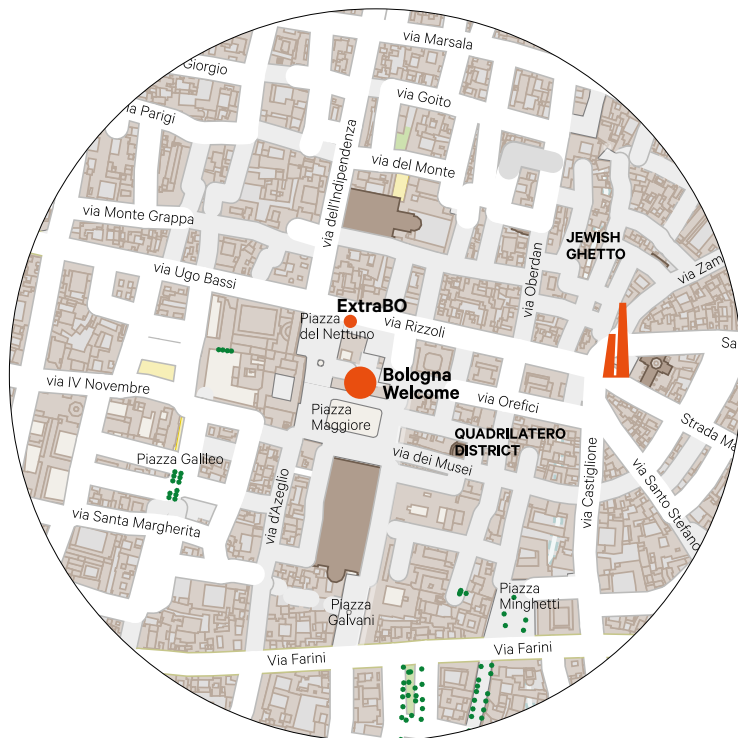

Visitor centres

Thanks to the many visitor centres it is easy and immediate to get information about the city as well as to purchase tours, tickets for theatres, concerts and any other events.

In Bologna there are two types of visitor centres:

- Bologna Welcome info points: offer 360-degree information on the metropolitan city of Bologna
- ExtraBO Outdoor info point: offers information on green areas of Bologna and all the “green and slow” activities that the area offers
